15 Killed In Quito's Mars Hoax

Angered Mob Wrecks Building

QUITO, Ecuador—(AP)—Fifteen persons were reported dead today and at least 15 injured by enraged mobs retaliating against an overly realistic broadcast of a fictional "invasion from Mars."

This city of 175,000 was in complete turmoil as a result of the panic caused by the broadcast and the army was called out to quell the raging mobs. Troops used tanks and tear gas on the angry citizens.

The building housing Ecuador's principal newspaper was wrecked, along with its equipment and the radio station in which made the broadcast. Damage was put at $350,000.

The government appointed the minister of defense to investigate, indicted the station's art and drama editors and arrested 10 other persons.

The Saturday night broadcast was based on H. G. Wells' fantastic novel, "The War of Worlds."

A similar broadcast was staged by Orson Welles in the United States in 1938. Both the Welles show and the one here localized the invasion of strange Martian creatures.

U. S. CALMER

The reaction wasn't as strong in the United States, however, although some persons there were reported to have died of fright, many prayed in the streets and men in New Jersey armed themselves and prepared to fight. But protests, though angry, were strictly vocal when people found it was just another radio show. More recently, a radio announcer at Willmar, Minn., last week dreamed up a wild animal scare that created a short-lived alarm in the area.

Radio Quito interrupted a musical program to announce "an urgent piece of news."

Then followed bulletins of the enemy approaching the city in the shape of a cloud, slaying residents and wiping out towns. Actors impersonating a government minister and the mayor begged the populace to be calm and for the men to fight.

The announcer said that from a high point he could see a monster engulfed in fire and smoke approaching the city.

That was the climax. Hysterical crowds poured out into the streets.

Program directors, discovering the panic they had caused, then revealed it was all in fun—it was only a story.

But when the mobs, many in their nightclothes, found they'd been fooled they took bloody vengeance, stoning a and then burning the building which housed the radio station.

Philly Needs Filly or Two

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — Philadelphia's faced chaotic traffic conditions today in the fourth day of a paralyzing strike by 11,000 transit workers which has halted all buses, trolleys, and subway trains.

In addition, the Quaker city is faced by a strike of taxicab drivers scheduled for 12:01 a. m. tomorrow. It began to look as if horses would be at a premium. Last-minute bargaining sessions were slated today in an effort to avert a strike of 350 Yellow Cab company drivers and mechanics and 300 independent taxi drivers. The men seek a greater percentage of metered fares.

Bargaining conferences between the CIO Transport Workers union and the Philadelphia Transportation company were scheduled for today in the federal mediation service offices. But no early settlement was in sight. TWU president Michael J. Quill has intimated the walkout may last another two weeks. The union demands a 20-cent hourly pay rise, while the company offered three cents.

A native of Hardin county, Liles was elected mayor of Lakeview at the age of 21 while he was teaching school in that village.

Truman Urges Emigration of 2,500,000 European Workers

France, Britain Jittery

PARIS—(INS)—Authoritative diplomatic sources in Paris said today that France and Britain are gravely concerned over reported United States efforts to water down its military guarantees to western Europe in the North Atlantic security pact.

Both Whitehall and the Quai d'Orsay are said to be "jittery" over the reported reluctance of the U. S. state department to guarantee automatic military action by America in the event one of the signers of the pact is attacked.

Henri Bonnet, French ambassador to Washington, reportedly has informed the French foreign office that the recall to Washington of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was motivated by the need for his prestige to iron out sharp differences within the government over the pact.

Bonnet reportedly told the foreign office that Eisenhower's views are unknown but he was said to have added that some members of the administration, certain congressional leaders and even military and naval advisers are counseling against any clause committing the U. S. to enter a war.

In London Norway's Foreign Minister H. M. Lange sought British military aid commitments in a meeting with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin to make up for the supposedly "disappointing" outcome of his efforts in Washington.

Dimes Total Falls Short

Only $5,336 Reported In Anti-Polio Drive

The 1949 March of Dimes campaign, which officially closed Saturday, fell 33 per cent short of its $8,000 quota, Marshall C. Moore, campaign chairman, said today.

He reported that as of noon today, $5,336 has been collected.

"We're extending the collection period until the latter part of this week," he said, reminding all persons who desire to contribute, that checks will be accepted at his office in the Richmond Trust building.

He said the $5,336 has been collected in the form of checks, and from coin boxes in schools and most of the industries. Most of the boxes in retail establishments and in the banks have not been collected as yet, he added.

Declares They Can't Find Jobs

President Backs Help For China

WASHINGTON — (INS) — President Truman declared today that approximately two and a half million workers will have to leave Europe, if they are to find jobs.

The President said that unemployment in Europe is such a problem that the emigration of workers from the continent to overseas areas would be an "essential solution."

He urged the various governments concerned to take effective steps toward this end in an effort to reduce Europe's labor surplus.

In a report to congress on the operations of the economic cooperation administration, Mr. Truman said unemployment is particularly bad in Italy and Greece and added that western Germany and Belgium also have the same trouble. The President declared:

"A recent survey conducted among European governments indicates that the total number of European workers available for emigration exceeds 2,500,000."

MUST EMIGRATE
"Only a small portion of this group can be absorbed within continental Europe," making large overseas emigration an essential solution to the problem."

At the same time, the chief executive said this country's aid program to China has made a "vital contribution" in several sectors of the Chinese economy. But, he said, the 275 million dollars "is not of sufficient magnitude to stem the tide of economic deterioration."

The President said that American aid to China must never be a substitute, but rather be a supplement to efforts by the Chinese government to increase production and improve the supply situation."

He frankly admitted that the Chinese civil war has "sapped the country's strength and hampered efforts to restore essential services, increase production and revive China's export trade."

Claim Sally Threatened

WASHINGTON — (INS) — "Axis Sally's" lawyer declared today that he has found two Germans who can "substantially contradict" testimony given by German witnesses for the government at his client's treason trial.

Attorney James J. Laughlin gave the preview of defense tactics as Prosecutor John M. Kelley, jr., prepared to wind up his case this week. The prosecution moves forward today with testimony by two Dutch musicians who, the government claims, helped "Sally"—Mildred E. Gillars—make propaganda broadcasts for the Nazi radio.

Laughlin said the German defense witnesses—Emil Beckmann and Franz Schafer—would testify that Miss Gillars was threatened with death or torture by the Gestapo unless she broadcast for the Nazis to American troops and their relatives at home.

The government contends that she did not act under compulsion and has introduced testimony by German radio officials to support that view.

Beckmann and Schafer were located in Germany by the army and were brought to the United States at government expense when Laughlin said they were needed to insure Miss Gillars an adequate defense.

A St. Louis delegation of 50 landlords, forming a 12-car auto caravan, also passed through Chicago on their way to Washington.

Lutz Delays Jury Call

Plans No Special Session This Month

Prosecutor Harold Lutz said today he would not ask for a special session of the grand jury to consider the case of William Lockridge, charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of Clayton Luckie, a week ago last Saturday night.

Lutz said that if enough cases accumulate later in the term he would ask Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch to call the grand jurors back for a special session—when the Lockridge case also would be considered.

In the event the January grand jury is not called back, the Lockridge case will go to the May term grand jury, which will convene early that month.

The January grand jury concluded a three-day session on Jan. 27.

Lockridge, 32, of 834 North Main street, was transferred to the Richmond county jail Saturday. He was ordered held without bond by Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler.

In municipal court on a preliminary arraignment he entered a plea of innocence to the charges. Lockridge was bound over to the grand jury Saturday.

Stock Mart Drop Halts

NEW YORK — (AP) — The stock market opened steady today, calling a halt to last week's general decline.

A number of the leaders were slightly higher, but enough were unchanged to small fractions lower to take the edge off any tendency to label the movement "a recovery."

The opening was active because of the large number of orders accumulating over the long weekend when the market was closed for Lincoln's birthday.

REPORTED MISSING

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Earl Canover, 34, a partner in the Tri-state Offset company, a lithographing concern, was reported missing last night by his family.

Canover was last seen at his home, 1010 S. Main street, where he was reported to be working on a new project.

Canover was 34 years old, single, and had been in the lithographing business for about 10 years. He was a native of Ohio and had lived in Cincinnati for about five years.

Canover was reported to be a very quiet and reserved man, and was known to his family and friends as a "sleeper."

Police Rescues Are Habit

CINCINNATI — (INS) — Kindly Cincinnati patrolman Melvin Pell pulled his cruiser to the curb to help a man with his heavy burden. He found the man's load consisted of 1,340 nickels and 80 quarters.

A short time later tavern owner John Chirco charged the man with burglarizing $87 from a pinball machine.

The suspect, held under $3,000 bond, registered as Kenneth Elam, 33, but said he had gone under the name of Crait Elam.

A man named Crait Elam was ganged by a group of angry women last Sept. 12 when he tried to grab the cash box from their church bingo game. Police rescued him that time from a headlock clamped on him by the Rev. Sylvan Becker.

City Warm As New Blast Hits West

Rain Forecast Tonight, Tuesday

While the west shivered in a new cold blast, Mansfield today continued to bask in spring-like temperatures.

With the mercury in the high 30's, the weatherman said there would be a slight drop tonight with occasional rain possible tonight and Tuesday. A low of 36 was recorded here today. Rainfall over the weekend totaled .09 of an inch.

Meanwhile, the misery-dealing great plains blizzards had opened up a broad new front in North Dakota today with the worst 24 hours of weather the west has had in two weeks.

Six North Dakota counties were added to the disaster area as a result of week-end storms which stalled relief and rescue operations in some parts of Nebraska and reduced them by 50 per cent in others.

Power lines were snapped under heavy weights of ice and driving became hazardous on slippery roadways as freezing rain fell in a wide belt through southern and eastern Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, southern Missouri and central Illinois.

Early today the mercury dropped to 17 below zero at Aberdeen, S. D., Pembina, N. D., and International Falls, Minn., and was still falling. It was 11 below at Sheridan, Wyo., and four below at Mason City, Ia.

A minor tornado damaged a few buildings at Edna, in southern Kansas, and at Alvarado, Tex., strong winds lifted some residences from foundations and scattered them over a wide area. There were no fatalities at either place, but damage at Alvarado was estimated at $50,000.

The 500 passengers on three trains stalled for several days at Rawlins and Hanna, Wyo., were rescued and taken to Cheyenne in buses.

Husband Files Own Domestic Bill of Rights

EAST LIVERPOOL — (AP) — Faced with domestic troubles, an east-end man filed a unique "Bill of Rights" pledge to his wife in municipal court. The typewritten, five-point program for marital bliss was turned over to Municipal Judge Frank E. Grosshans by Nelson Clark.

Clark faced an assault and battery charge filed by his wife, Mrs. Edna Clark. He received a $10 fine and a 30-day jail term that was suspended on condition he lives up to his promises.

Among other things, the defendant promised: "Never to argue with my wife, no matter what the circumstances; to refrain from drinking 'so much that it warps my mind or makes me mean and irritating; as dutiful as I know how;

To put my home and family first, and to share everything I have or receive with my wife or child."

Clark attached a final clause that Judge Grosshans called a "sleeper."

In return for the promises, Clark said he expected an understanding that he is head of the household and that "no one can administer judgment on any question until it is explained to me first." He also reserved the right to administer family finances if he feels his wife is botching the job.

Christian Front Looming

Soviet Grab Expected

(Compiled From Wire Services) Pope Pius XII today accused the communist-ruled government of Hungary of attempting to wreck the Catholic church in that country through the trial and condemnation of Cardinal Mindszenty.

The supreme pontiff, speaking before an extraordinary consistory of 16 cardinals, warned that "if religion is swept away and divinity is banished, no civil society can ever subsist." He demanded full freedom for the church everywhere.

After hearing the Pope, the consistory reportedly mapped plans to unite all Christian denominations in the fight against communist expansion. Such action would be an historic step for the Roman Catholic church, which has hitherto insisted on standing alone.

His Holiness, addressing the first meeting of its kind in nearly half a century, bitterly condemned the trial of the primate of Hungary. He declared that Hungary's communist-controlled government based its case against Cardinal Mindszenty on statements "completely alien to the truth."

A high Vatican source said that plans for unity of all Christians in the war against communism were laid in discussion by the cardinals after the Pope's speech.

RED SHIFTS LOOMS

In Washington eastern European assaults on churches have stirred American suspicions that Moscow may be getting ready to discard the "people's democracy" system in Soviet satellites.

They also have revived the idea that Russia is moving toward absorbing the Soviet-bloc states into an expanded Soviet union.

Top authorities on relations with the communist world said today the trend appears to be in these directions. Officials are virtually unanimous on one point: Under pressure from Moscow the process of shaping the satellites into the Soviet mold has now been speeded up.

Authorities read this meaning into Hungary's trial of Cardinal Mindszenty and defiance of American displeasure, the indictment of fifteen churchmen in Bulgaria, and the current purges in Poland and Czechoslovakia.

A by-product of the Mindszenty trial was the case of Selden Chapin, U. S. minister to Hungary. Hungary charged Chapin was involved with the cardinal in his alleged offenses, and asked the diplomat's removal. Chapin will return to the U. S. this week.

Judge Won't Step Down

LIMA — (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Moran B. Jenkins today refused to step down from the bench on a prejudice affidavit filed by the three defendants in Lima's court room microphone case.

Judge Jenkins ruling was made at the opening hearing against three law enforcement officers charged with criminal contempt of court. They are Allen County Sheriff William R. Dailey, and two Lima city detectives, J. Robert Neely and Bernard L. Burkhardt.

The three defendants last week filed an affidavit charging Judge Jenkins was prejudiced and biased. They asked that another judge be appointed to hear the charges against them.

A hearing on the prejudice affidavit was set for 2 p. m. Wednesday in Columbus before Judge Carl V. Weyandt, chief justice of the Ohio Supreme court.

The microphone was found Jan. 24 concealed behind a steam radiator pipe in an Allen county court house jury room. Attached wires led to an unused store-room.

Ashland Booster Prexy In Hospital

ASHLAND—H. G. M. (Bully) Rader, 36, Ashland city councilman and president of the Ashland Booster club, is in serious condition at Elyria Memorial hospital following a brain blood hemorrhage which he suffered Saturday afternoon.
The popular Ashland civic leader and operator of Rader's restaurant, suffered the hemorrhage while attending a basketball game at the YMCA. He was watching the Whiz Kids youngsters team sponsored and coached by Rader, when he fell unconscious.

TOP TEAMS

The game will follow a preliminary between Frankie Mitsch's and Home Material Lumberjacks of the National Class B league. Mitsch's is undefeated in league play while Home Materials has lost only one second half game.

The prelim is set for 7 p. m. with two girls' volleyball teams to play an exhibition between the cage contests. The teams were chosen as all-star units from the Wednesday night volleyball league.

Penn Auto failed to beat Sport Center in both regular season meetings, losing the first round, 51-43 and the second round 49-42. The latter was Penn's only second round defeat.

LOSE SCORERS

Since that time, however, Sport Center has lost its two top scorers in Jack Hammett and Ed Vanderbilt. Vanderbilt won the City A scoring championship, but is no longer with the team.
Sport Center's leading scorer now is Red Worthley who scored 112 points during the regular season. Ed Woodberry leads Penn Auto with 101 points but the team relies more on team work than any individual scoring punch. Included on the roster is Ollie Cline, who was named "Ohio's outstanding high school athlete" only two years ago.

Ohio State Board To Choose Pair Of Grid Coaches

COLUMBUS—(UP)—The Ohio State board of trustees votes today on the candidacies for two vacancies to Wes Fessler's football staff.

Gene Fekete, OSU Jay-Vee coach in 1947, is the leading candidate to succeed Sam Selby as freshman head coach but the freshman backfield coaching vacancy was more uncertain since Chuck Thackara, coach at Hamilton High school, turned down Fessler's invitation last week.

It was expected that Dick Fisher, freshman backfield coach last year, would be elevated to varsity backfield mentor to fill in for the departed Carroll Widdoes, who took over the head coaching position at Ohio university. Fisher served in that capacity for Fessler in 1947 at Pittsburgh.

Charley Stine: County May Use New Gym

The long-time problem of seating at Richland county high school gyms may be another which will be solved by the forthcoming construction of Senior high's new fieldhouse.

The possibility of county schools renting the fieldhouse for "big games" came up in a conversation with Bellville coach Harry Regula.

Regula feels that all schools would welcome the possibility and might go so far as to stage regular double-headers if the field house is available. Many of the affairs would probably have to be played on Saturday night but that could be worked out to advantage.

The chat with Regula took place on the steps leading up from the Bellville dressing room Friday night. At the time some 500 fans were squeezing themselves into the Bellville gym to see the host Blue Jays play an important game with Ontario. A few hundred more were outside, returning to their cars after failing to get in, and countless numbers never showed up because of the seating situation.

Such a situation is a common thing at all Richland county league games through no fault of the schools. They welcome the fan interest but their gyms were built a number of years ago and there is simply no money to build new ones, in most cases.

On the other hand, once Senior high gets its field house built, it will need all the possible revenue to help maintain it. A set-up with a regular weekly round of county league play on the court would be beneficial to both parties.

Most fans, we are sure, would rather drive nine or ten miles and be assured of a comfortable seat than have to stand in line for an hour or more just for the chance of getting a standing space on the corner of the playing floor.

Just so everyone will be sure and forget about it before the time comes, we will make our basketball predictions early. For the four teams to play the Class B state tournament we'll take Junction City in the southeast, Lockland Wayne in the southwest, Yorkville in the northeast and Lima St. Rose from the northwest.

For some "spoilers" watch Frazersburg and Somerset Holy Trinity at Athens, Walnut Creek at Kent, and New Knoxville and the Richland county league winner at Toledo. We can't see anyone beating out Lockland Wayne in the Dayton regional.

Jack McLain, the Brooklyn scout who will conduct the baseball clinic here Wednesday, was such a good basketball coach he had to resign.

The former Ohio State cager coached at Glenford for several years and each time pushed his team through county and district tournament play only to have to leave them or pass up baseball spring training. Several years he reported late for baseball and then in the fall, was late getting back in coaching harness.

Finally he chose between the two and basketball lost a man who might have become one of its great coaches.

Willardite Seeks Braves Berth

By GEORGIA WOLFE
WILLARD — A hard-hitting Willard outfielder may wind up with a spot on the Boston Braves' roster this year.

Husky Homer Moore has signed a 1949 baseball contract with Boston's farm club at Milwaukee but will undergo spring training with the Braves at Brentwood, Fla., starting March 1. Moore had been scheduled to join the Braves at the tag end of the 1948 season but suffered a hip injury Labor Day and could not report.

Moore has been a long-ball hitter during his two years of pro ball but originally wanted to be a pitcher. He is 26, tips the scales at 190 pounds and stands an even six feet.

Moore's advance in national sports has been a great deal of luck, he says. In early childhood he determined to become a good baseball player and found an able booster in his father Ernest. He began his diamond career while in high school and made use of every

Baku Grotto Takes First In Team Ten

Only one change was made over the week end in leadership of the Men's City bowling tournament being held at Richland Recreation.

First-placers in doubles, singles, and all-events remained static while Baku Grotto shot to the top in the five-man event.

WENNING GETS 717

Baku, a Club league quintet, carved out a 3015 score as Howard Wenning made good use of a 147-pin handicap to run up a 717 series. He had games of 216, 180, and 174.

Other Baku scores included a 180-202-159-96-637 by Burke Schmittke; 126-180-144-96-546 by Tom Forrest; 151-158-142-90-541 by Bob Eller, and 172-156-165-81-574 by Robert Littler.

New names also appeared in fourth through seventh places. Max Diner took over fourth. Jerry's 36 Bar fifth and Local 17 sixth in the second shift rolling Saturday night. Zaha's Construction moved into third in the first shift then was pushed all the way to seventh.

Top five in all-events are same as last week while three new doubles teams and two singles rollers moved into the top ten.

FOURTH IN TANDEM

Hank Heiser and J. Perrine scored 1186 to take fourth place in doubles while Elmer Myers and Jim Miller took seventh with 1177 and Henry Michaels and Brig Young captured eighth with 1175.

Singles lead remained in the hands of Homer Bottomley while Henry Michaels took third with 633. Fred F. Miller was the other new face as he moved into fifth with 612.

Aids Villanova With Big 85

(By International News Service)
A basketball player can score 85 points in one game.

For further information, see Paul Arizin, who did just that in "helping" Villanova to a 117-25 victory over the Philadelphia naval air command center Saturday night.

Whether Arizin's performance will be recognized as an official college record remains to be seen. Villanova was considerably under-matched in facing the naval air command center—who aren't officially a college team.

Wilberforce Squad Leads Ohio College Court Race

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS—Probably the tightest race in history is on for Ohio's college cage championship. Although any one of a half-dozen clubs can grab the state-wide race—now paced by Wilberforce—the Mid-American conference scrap has settled down to a two-team fight between Butler and Cincinnati, while Ohio Wesleyan, Muskingum and Oberlin all have a chance at the Ohio conference laurels.

Wilberforce breezed through four games last week to take over the top spot with 18 wins and four defeats in the all-games sector; Butler rolled to its sixth straight Mid-American victory over Western Michigan, while Ohio Wesleyan won a pair to slip around Wittenberg and Muskingum into the Ohio loop lead.

Ohio Staters Play St. Louis Five Tonight

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Ohio State's up-and-down basketball team, definitely out of the Big Nine race with four defeats, has nothing to lose and everything to gain tonight in its battle with the famed St. Louis Billikins at St. Louis.

The Billikins, considered by many to be the top team in the nation with "Easy Ed" Macaulay at center, have lost only one game this season and that was a queer 28-27 defensive battle with the Oklahoma Aggies.

ONLY ARGUMENT
The only team to give Macaulay and his mates an argument as the top outfit in the country is Kentucky, and the Bills knocked the Kentuckians off, 42-40, in the Sugar Bowl celebration at New Orleans.

But Ohio, with the astute little Tippy Dye figuring the angles, has the giant-killer instinct. Dye figured out the perfect defense—a sliding zone—to stop big Jim McIntyre and Minnesota and the same maneuver could stop Macaulay at all.

Dye's biggest feature in that defense was the way Bob Donahm and Bob Radiger were able to crowd up McIntyre in the pivot spot, and perhaps they can pull the same trick on big Macaulay tonight.

Baseball Needs Reserve Clause

LOS ANGELES — (UP) — Organized baseball has no chance of survival if its present reserve clause, under fire in the courts, is declared illegal. Branch Rickey, Brooklyn Dodgers boss, warned today.

"Without this important clause in players' contracts, two or three clubs with the most money would control all the talent," Rickey said. "That is the danger if the clause is thrown out. I think everybody wants baseball to continue, and it needs a reserve clause in some form or other. Baseball's been through this before."

Colony Alleys Fall Off COL Pin Pace

Mansfield's Colony alley team fell a game farther off the pace in the Central Ohio Ladies league yesterday as it dropped two of three games to league-leading Newark Housing here.

The Newark team had only one woman over 500 and was some 75 pins behind in the three-game total, but nevertheless won two close decisions.

Colony, led by Sue Humphrey's 209, took the first game 880-771, then lost the next by one pin, 833-832 and the last by 749-712.

Sue's 209-178-134-521 was the top score in the match while Helen Wilhelm posted 182-186-150-518. Donna Schuster had 479, Billie Cleaveker, 464, and Dot McDevitt, 442.

Best series of the day was a 170-212-196-578 by Jayne Griffith of Zanesville Roberts Jewellery.

Colony is now in third place, four games back of Newark.

Hal LeMunyon of Zahn's was top man with 244-146-209-599 while Farrell Hipp had 177-211-197-585. Dale Cleaveker posted 248-182-141-571, Nick Weber 520 and Lou Zahn, 508.

John Leathers had a 148-207-182-537 in the Mansfield Tire Owl league while Bob Gruneisen chipped in with 168-222-145-535. Others: Dick Krotz, 511; E. Weakland, 507; Jesse Graham, 504; John Takos, 502 and C. Wyckoff, 501.

John Ibe had a 218.

The Colony alley women's team dropped two of three games but had high team total in a special match with Brad and Chuck Recreation of Ashland. Sue Humphrey led Colony with 512.

Valley Teams Tops In Wins

NEW YORK — (UP) — The basketball power of the mid-west, and particularly the Missouri valley conference, was the most striking fact today in a survey of teams angling for a post-season tournament invitation.

Among outfits that have lost only a handful of games, more come from the central section of the United States than from any other part.

The Missouri valley takes the cake. Of the six teams in the circuit three—St. Louis (18-1), Oklahoma A AND M (15-3), and Bradley (22-4) — are rated among the most certain to get a tourney bid. Fifty percent representation would be an unparalleled record.

Douglas, playing his second year on the tournament trail, shot 22 under par for 72 holes to win $2000 first money with a total of 268. It edged Sammy Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., by a stroke. Sneed wound up with a five-under par 66 and a 72-hole total of 269.

New Tourist Golf Winner

SAN ANTONIO, TEX. — (UP) — Golf's touring crack shots moved on to Houston today with a comparative newcomer to their ranks—tall Dave Douglas of Wilmington, Del.—leading the way as winner of the $10,000 Texas open.

Douglas, playing his second year on the tournament trail, shot 22 under par for 72 holes to win $2000 first money with a total of 268. It edged Sammy Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., by a stroke. Sneed wound up with a five-under par 66 and a 72-hole total of 269.

Spring Grid Dropped At Shelby High

SHELBY—Spring football practice has been dropped at Shelby high school.

In making the announcement today, Athletic Director Al Fendrick said that Shelby high would field varsity teams in other sports and also concentrate on an expanded athletic show. All varsity sports, except golf, were dropped last spring in favor of the pre-season grid drills.

O-I Baseball Loop to Stay With 8 Teams

MARION — (UP) — The Ohio-Indiana class D baseball league will continue in 1949 as an eight-team outfit. Three of its clubs will not have major league backing.

President Frank M. Colley said a meeting of league members yesterday decided to keep an eight-team circuit, with Lima, Zanesville and Richmond opening the season as independents.

"Richmond is the farthest away from being ready to start the season," Colley reported, "but they were given two weeks."

If the Richmond team is unable to start the season, the league will run the franchise to keep the circuit from being broken, Colley said.

The Lima team is "definitely set," he declared, "and Zanesville will be set within a day or so."

DECIDE ON 140

The league's club directors also decided on a 140-game season, opening April 26 and closing Sept. 11.

Colley said onetime major league catcher Grover Hartley has bought an interest in the Lima Club from owner J. Ray Laibe. Laibe will remain as team president, Colley said, and Hartley will be field manager and business manager.

Ival Goodman, a former Cincinnati reds outfielder, probably would run the Zanesville club, Colley said.

Zanesville and Lima last year had working agreements with the Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago White Sox, respectively. Richmond was owned by the Boston Braves.

MAY GET PLAYERS

"Lima, Richmond and Zanesville will at least start the season as independents," Colley continued. "However, after the season gets started, and the major league clubs find some men on their rosters they would like to send out for further seasoning, some major league backers may step in at those three points."

Of the five other league clubs, Muncie, Ind., belongs to the Cincinnati Reds; Portsmouth, O., is owned by the Philadelphia Athletics; Marion, O., has a working agreement with the Boston Red Sox; Newark, with the New York Yankees, and Springfield, O., with the New York Giants.

Undefeated Mitsch's Appears In Prelim

The curtain will be lowered on the City A league basketball season tonight at John Simpson when Penn Auto-Sporting Goods and Ohio Sport Center vie for the 1948-49 championship.

The game will follow a preliminary between Frankie Mitsch's and Home Material Lumberjacks of the National Class B league. Mitsch's is undefeated in B league play while Home Materials has lost only one second half game.

The prelim is set for 7 p. m. with two girls' volleyball teams play an exhibition between the cage contests. The teams were chosen as all-star units from the Wednesday night volleyball league.

Penn Auto failed to beat Sport Center in both regular season meetings, losing the first round, 51-43 and the second round 49-42. The latter was Penn's only second round defeat.

LOSE SCORERS

Since that time, however, Sport Center has lost its two top scorers in Jack Hammett and Ed Vanderbilt. Vanderbilt won the City A scoring championship, but is no longer with the team. Sport Center's leading scorer now is Red Worthington who scored 112 points during the regular season. Ed Woodberry leads Penn Auto with 101 points but the team relies more on team work than any individual scoring punch. Included on the roster is Ollie Cline, who was named "Ohio's outstanding high school athlete" only two years ago.

Ohio State Board To Choose Pair Of Grid Coaches

COLUMBUS — (UP) — The Ohio State board of trustees votes today on the candidacies for two vacancies to Wes Fessler's football staff.

Gene Fekete, OSU Jay-Vee, coach in 1947, is the leading candidate to succeed Sam Selby as freshman head coach but the freshman backfield coaching vacancy was more uncertain since Chuck Thackara, coach at Hamilton High school, turned down Fessler's invitation last week.

Fessler was expected that Dick Fisher, freshman backfield coach last year, would be elevated to varsity backfield mentor to fill in for the departed Carroll Widdoes, who took over the head coaching position at Ohio university. Fisher served in that capacity for Fessler in 1947 at Pittsburgh.

Miss Bentley Hurls a Bombshell Into Probe

16th article in a series
By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Edited by Bob Considine)

Elizabeth Bentley, a Vassar graduate and later a teacher at the exclusive Foxcroft school, Middleburg, Va., drifted deeply into communism through her hatred of fascism and her love of a dying communist named Jacob Golos.

Returning from her post-graduate studies in Florence, in the middle 1930's, she met a number of U.S. communists and left-wingers who urged her to speak on Italian fascism at several of their functions. In short order she joined the American League Against War and Fascism, one of the communist fronts cleverly endowed with a name and apparent purpose calculated to enlist sympathy from Americans.

Her early mentor in communism, she later testified, was Dr. James Mendenhall, a professor in Columbia university's teachers college. Through Columbia, she was placed in a job with the Italian library of information, a propaganda arm of Mussolini's dictatorship. She began supplying communist party headquarters in New York with information she picked up in line with her duties at the library.

Miss Bentley's efficiency in this modest role came to the attention of Golos, president of World Tourists, Incorporated., a travel bureau set up with communist funds. The bureau served as a clearing house for the traffic between this country and Russia of a number of Red agents, some of them traveling under false passports—as in the case of Gerhart Eisler.

She fell in love with Golos, and it was to him that she thereafter turned over the information she obtained from the library. When Hitler invaded the Soviet Union in 1941 Golos promoted her to the role of courier.

She felt no remorse. "It never occurred to me that I was betraying my own government," she testified later to the House un-American Activities committee. "The mistake you make when you look at communism is that you take it as an intellectual process."

"It is not. It is almost a religion, and it gets you so strongly that you take orders blindly. You believe it blindly. That accounts for the fact that no real communist is religious or has any religion."

But things changed when her man Golos died of the somewhat unromantic malady of hardening of the arteries.

Miss Bentley tried working directly with Browder for a time, but found him evasive and contemptuous of her—as he was of all American communists. Those he assigned her to "were about the cheapest type of person I have ever seen—the gangster type." In July, 1945, she stopped paying her party dues.

When it became apparent to her superiors that she was drifting away, a great effort was made to placate her and revive her interest. It failed. In August, 1945, she went to F. B. I. headquarters in New Haven, Conn., because she felt she was being followed in New York City, and told her story. She named the names with which she bomb-shelled the committee three years later.

The F. B. I. made its report, followed her thereafter. But the communist Party did not give her up easily. Her case was considered important enough to enlist the attention of Anatol Gromov, first secretary of the satellites; Duncan Lee, legal adviser to OSS head Maj. Gen. William Donovan; John Abt, CIO-PAC official; Victor Perlo, official in six government agencies; Charles Kramer, attached to the Labor sub-committee headed by Sens. Claude Pepper and Harley M. Kilgore; Harry Magdoff, WPA official; Harold Glasser, who worked in a number of government offices, and Maj. William Ludwig Ullmann, USAF.

White, co-author of the Bretton Woods Monetary plan, author of the so-called Morgenthau plan for Germany, and sponsor of the World Bank, was charged with moving Red agents into key positions in various government departments.

Currie, Miss Bentley charged, supplied her with advance information on the impending breakdown of the Soviet code, the invasion of France, and the administration's plans for Chinese aid.

Silvermaster she called a communist, and leader of one of the two important groups obtaining information from government officials. Miss Bentley considered Silvermaster an NK VD man.

Remington, who is currently suing her for libel, she called her "most valuable" government contact. He was subsequently suspended by the Commerce department. However, the Federal Loyalty Review board exonerated Remington and asked that he be reinstated.

Lee was accused of being a communist and of supplying her with "highly secret" (OSS) information. Abt's New York apartment was used as a rendezvous for some of her fellow-conspirators, she asserted.

Perlo, she said, headed the second large Washington document-stealing group. Kramer, who had appeared before the committee a year earlier, and who had refused to answer when we asked him if he had ever been a communist, was known as "Krivitsky" in the Perlo group, in which he was active, according to Miss Bentley.

USED MICROFILM

Ullmann, she said, attended to the microfilming of secret government documents which found their way to Silvermaster's Washington home.

The protests of most of those named were quick and generally indignant.

"This is the most fantastic thing I ever heard of," White told reporters. "I never heard of the woman before, I am shocked."

So there we were, with the largest type of hot potato in our hands. This had inadvertently run the President's special session of Congress off the front pages. Before 24 hours had passed the committee was the target of a tremendous campaign of vilification.

There were, indeed, some members who felt that we should have accepted the advice of the Justice department and confined Miss Bentley's testimony to a closed hearing. Corroboration most certainly would be difficult to obtain.

The subpoena I then served on Whittaker Chambers, for reasons which I shall explain in the next article, was a forlorn shot in the dark.

TOMORROW: Chambers enters the case and breaks it wide open.

Bucyrus Tax Payment Lag Irks Auditor

Amusement Licenses Not Being Renewed

BUCYRUS—Legal action faces local organizations if they continue to disregard the city's three per cent amusement tax, City Auditor James V. Berry warned.

So far this year only three amusement licenses have been renewed, compared with the 17 issued last year, Berry pointed out.

Under terms of a city ordinance, persons conducting amusements without obtaining a license, which costs $1, are liable to a fine of $25 to $100. The same fine is applicable to those failing to collect the tax and pay it to the auditor. A jail sentence up to 60 days may be imposed for a second offense. Corporations, on second offense, are liable to fines of from $100 to $500.

The city has received approximately $6,000 from the tax since it went into effect on Oct. 1, 1947.

Rent Control Fund OK'd

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House appropriations committee voted new life today for the office of housing expediter and the war assets administration.

In the first big money bill of 1949, a $466,882,177 omnibus deficiency measure, the committee recommended also that congress override the GOP-controlled 80th Congress in dealing with the Tennessee Valley Authority and the reclamation bureau.

All of its recommendations are subject to House and Senate approval with House debate slated to start tomorrow and likely to continue for two stormy days.

For the housing expediter, who handles rent control, the committee approved $4,800,000 for operations until the end of May. This is $2,650,000 less than the President's request but will give the agency two additional months of life.

Kiddies Display Dolls at Library

It was "doll day" at the public library Saturday and nearly 100 children gathered to display their dolls and to hear Mrs. Lois Pennell, county librarian, tell stories about "Laura's Doll," taken from the books by Laura Wilder.

The dolls which the children took to the library will be on display all week between 4 and 5:30 p. m. and 7 and 8 p. m. The public is invited to view the exhibit. Teachers may take their classes to see the dolls by arranging for an appointment during school hours, Mrs. Pennell said.

Michigan Chief Escapes Death

LANSING, Mich. (INS)—The narrow escape from death in a plane crash by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, his wife and six others was termed "a miracle" today by Lansing airport authorities.

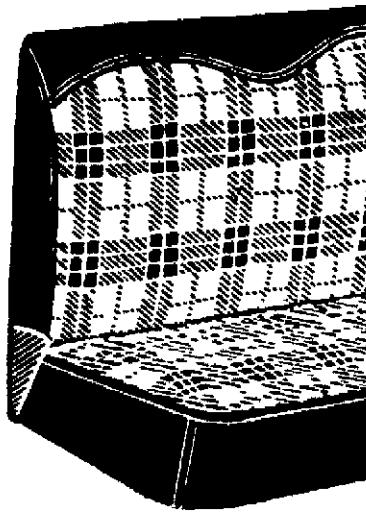

A National Guard plane carrying Michigan's governor, Mrs. Williams, and six members of their party missed a runway at the airport last night as it attempted a landing in poor visibility.

The plane crashed into four small aircraft and just missed hitting a hangar.

Channel Change OK'd

The Empire Steel Corporation has been authorized to proceed with changing the channel of the Rocky Fork creek on company premises, in accordance with a petition of the company.

The petition had the approval of the county engineer who was instructed by the commissioners to supervise the work. The company will pay the entire cost.

Under the company's plans, the creek channel which now goes from the Bowman street bridge in a southeasterly direction to the reservoir would be diverted.

The new channel will go east from the bridge to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and parallel the tracks to the company reservoir. A small new tributary will parallel Bowman street northwestward to the new channel.

Property owners in the area were granted a week's time on Feb. 4 to file objections. Commissioners said that since no objections were filed, they gave approval to the company's petition.

Denies Charge In Slaying

Harry Dodds Jr., 20, of New Straitsville, former Mansfield reformatory inmate, pleaded innocent in Athens today to charges of first degree murder in the slaying of Miss Eleanor Gifford, 52-year-old Athens church worker, and was bound over to the grand jury.

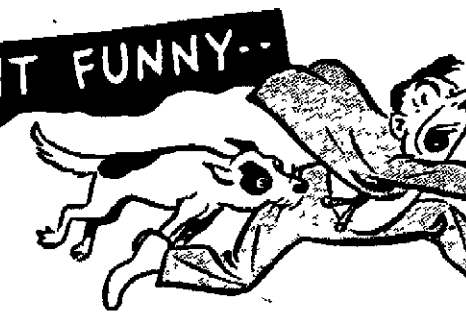

Dodds walked about 200 yards between lines of curious and hostile persons as he was taken from county jail to city hall for the hearing before Mayor W. P. McKie.

Prosecutor Gordon B. Gray said a special session of the grand jury will be called Wednesday to consider charges against Dodds and Army Pvt. Grover Rawlins, 21, also implicated in the slaying.

Sheriff Frees Man Who Slept In Used Cars

A 23-year-old man who had been sleeping in cars on the Brandenburg Chevrolet company's used car lot on Ashland road was released today from the county jail after the lot owner said he did not desire to file charges, sheriff's deputies said.

The man was apprehended early Friday morning. He had gone to sleep in an unlocked car. He told deputies he had no home and worked at odd jobs. He had slept there for about 10 nights.

Prosecutor Harold Lutz said a youth who started a fire on the back porch of the home of R. M. Harter on State Route 13 south of Mansfield, would be released today.

Lutz said his investigation had disclosed that the youth was intoxicated at the time. He said Harter did not desire to file charges. The youth was apprehended Friday morning at the house by sheriff's deputies.

Items Stolen From 2 Cars

Two thefts from cars were reported to police Saturday. Thieves unlocked the trunk of his car after taking the trunk key out of the glove compartment. Medford Riddle of Vetsville told police.

Rogers Metcalf of Ashland, R. D. 4 reported to police that four white tire rims, valued at $5, were taken from his car while parked at North Mulberry street, north of Fourth street, Friday night.

Hearing Postponed

An action by the city of Mansfield against the Mansfield Telephone company in which the city seeks to obtain a 60-foot right-of-way for extending East Fifth street to Ashland road has been continued to Feb. 23 at 1 p. m. The hearing was originally set for today.

The city will ask Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kaibfleisch for the impaneling of a special jury to set a price for the land.

The telephone company asked for the continuance because Gustav Hirsch, chief engineer for the company and a director, cannot be in Mansfield for the hearing until the later date, according to Marion D. Ward Jr., the company's attorney.

The city seeks the property to extend East Fifth street from Snyder street to the Ashland road.

'Relief Load' Will Bear Watching

DESPITE Mansfield's appearance of prosperity, reports are to the effect that the "relief load" in this community has been mounting quite rapidly, due to unemployment or inability of families to make income reach outgo.

This is a situation that should not be permitted to get out of bounds, due to lack of coordination of relief agencies or looseness of methods in dispensing relief because of insufficient personnel to investigate all cases in which relief is sought.

Experience has shown that at least a few persons are not above applying for and accepting unneeded public relief, although a majority of people have customarily felt that they would rather suffer deprivation than become applicants for "charity."

With industrial employment still at high level in Mansfield, it may be wondered what will happen, insofar as relief is concerned, if even a mild recession sets in, with resultant increase in unemployment.

If, as stated in Saturday's article on this subject, there is only one official investigator of relief applications, and if—as seems probable—no close scrutiny is made of actual needs of present recipients of relief, it would appear that preparation for probable continuance of an upward trend in this expenditure of public funds demands quick action in assuring that relief expenditures are confined to persons and families in actual need, rather than that encouragement be given to indolence, dissipation or shiftlessness.

There should be no inclination to deprive actually needy persons and families of sufficient relief to bridge over an emergency period but it seems quite proper to inquire closely into each case, with a follow-through as to efforts being made by relief clients to provide for themselves.

Mansfield, City of $1.25 Haircuts

NOW THAT barbers in other Ohio cities have shown no inclination to follow Mansfield's lead in boosting the price of haircuts to $1.25, it seems reasonable to suggest that this subject be reopened for further consideration by local barber shop owners and their employees.

A survey shows that in Ohio cities, outside of Mansfield, the top price for a haircut is $1, while in some cities the 75-cent price still prevails—with 50 cents as the retained haircut charge in at least a few smaller cities and towns.

It will be remembered that when the $1.25 haircut price was put into effect in Mansfield six months ago it was only by union compulsion that all shops were held in line as an effort was made by operators of some shops to continue the $1 charge.

Extent to which barber shop patrons have adopted the practice of extending the time between haircuts, and the turn of many people to use of home hair-cutting appliances, indicates that shop income has not been materially increased by the price boost and that the only gain is in leisure time for barbers.

Meanwhile Mansfield is being placed in the unenviable position of hearing the quip: "Oh yes, Mansfield, that's where it costs more to get a haircut than any place else in Ohio."

Ornate Valentines Return To Favor

IT APPEARS that there are cycles in fashions other than women's clothing. This year Valentines are being received which in price, at least, recall the turn of the century. They are large creations of paper, satin, and lace and cost all the way from $2 to $10. Expensive "billets doux" were the rage in the 'Nineties' but far fewer were sent than the millions which are going through the mails today.

The idea of a romantic message remains the same, but the wording has been stepped up to the tempo of Bobby Soxers who wear blue jeans instead of crinolines. The wolf call has replaced the sighing swain.

One commendable change is the virtual disappearance of the old "comic" valentine which was sent unsigned and usually contained nasty remarks about the receiver's appearance or personality. These, of course, were a rather tawdry violation of the spirit of the day which is one of amorous sentiment.

When Ill Health Provides Excuse

THERE are times when bad health is a convenient possession. It can always be adduced as a reason for not doing something which otherwise would be hard to avoid. The latest instance is the Russian intimation that Stalin would be delighted to confer with President Truman, only it must be in Russia, Poland or Czechoslovakia. His health forbids him to go farther.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull took the long trip to Moscow when both were overworked and far from being in good health. One way is no longer than the other. But excuse for ill health is at least more polite than a flat refusal.

Negro History Week called attention to the progress that the race has made, which may seem discouragingly slow to ambitious Negroes. Yet it appears amazing when contrasted with conditions within the life span of many persons today. Another 80 years should tell an even more striking story.

Noting that Worcester, Mass., reports two crocuses in bloom while the Union Pacific railroad reports 38 trains stalled in drifts, the Kansas City Star inquires: "Can't something be done to apply President Truman's Fair Deal to the weather?"

Claude Cailan advises: "You just can't keep help in your home if your children expect as much of the help as they do of mother."

You'll surely find it in a Mansfield store.

What Some Other People Are Saying

BISHOP CHARLES K. GILBERT, of the New York Protestant Episcopal diocese: "The communists are attempting to bar all freedom of religion, and that is the concern of all of us everywhere, regardless of creed."

Norwegian Foreign Minister HALVARD LANGE, in answer to queries as to whether Norway will join the North Atlantic pact: "I cannot reach any conclusion of my own. We have our constitution you know, just as you have yours."

State Department Spokesman MICHAEL M'DERMOTT: "The similarity between the fantastic accusations made against the Protestant religious leaders in Bulgaria and those against Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary strikingly emphasize the concerted nature of this continuing communist assault on religious liberties in eastern Europe."

Frankly Speaking

Assault On Religion

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — The only surprising thing about the crackdown on religion in the communist-run countries of eastern Europe is that it didn't come sooner.

It follows the pattern set 32 years ago by the Russian communists when, after their 1917 revolution, they smashed the Greek Orthodox church, which was the big church in Russia then.

The reason is clear enough: The communists want absolute power and they'll wipe out or try to subdue any organization they think may stand between them and the minds of the people.

Both Karl Marx and his most successful disciple — Lenin, who led the Russian Revolution — called religion the "opiate of the people." Neither man believed in God.

Their thinking—and the thinking of the other communists today in Russia and eastern Europe, all following the Marx line, more or less—can be summed up this way:

1. Marxism is materialistic, not spiritual or mystical like a religious belief. Marxism is scientific. Religion is superstition. Religion is always linked up with the oppressors of the people, like a king. Religion is tied in tight with private ownership of property.

2. Therefore, since Marxism is opposed to all those things, organized religion must be suppressed, at least to the point where it cannot influence the people against the communists.

Lenin—quoted by David Shub in his book "Lenin"—said:

"Religion is one of a form of spiritual oppressions which weigh upon the masses of the people crushed by continuous toil for others, by poverty and loneliness . . . Religion is the opiate of the people, a sort of spiritual liquor, meant to make slaves of capitalism drown their humanity and their desires for a decent existence."

This country and Britain have both accused the communists of eastern Europe of a "concerted assault" on the churches and churchmen. You can see the picture from this:

In Hungary the Roman Catholic Cardinal Mindszenty was sentenced to life on a charge of treason; in Bulgaria 15 Protestant church leaders will be tried on charges of spying for the U. S. and Britain; in Poland, a Roman Catholic bishop has accused government officials of abolishing religious teaching in some of the schools; and reports from Czechoslovakia say a new campaign is shaping up there against top Catholic churchmen.

Failure In Russia.

IF ALL this is followed by a fiercer and more complete crackdown on religion in those countries, will it mean the communists are trying to wipe out religion entirely there?

They'd like to. But they are not likely to succeed if Russia is an example.

For many people now living there have been raised in religion, and if they can't go to church or send their children to religious schools, they'll give them religious beliefs in the secrecy of their homes.

That was the Russian story. There the Greek Orthodox church had a deep and age-old grip on the minds, hearts and allegiance of the people.

After the revolution, the communist government took over the churches. If believers wanted them back, they had to leave them from the government. There could be no religious teaching for young people outside the home.

And, meanwhile, the government tried to spread atheism by propaganda. The religious people, of course, had no means of competing with that.

In 1929 a "union of the godless" was created to spread atheism but by 1937 the leader of it admitted half the Russian population was sincerely religious. His anti-religious union fell apart.

The Soviet constitution permitted religious freedom, although not strictly the kind the western world knows. Then the war came and the government relaxed a great deal more, letting religious magazines be published and permitting schools for training priests.

Now, reports say, there is quite a bit of religious worship in Russia. But, whereas the orthodox church dominated before the revolution, now there are a number of religious sects.

Gratitude Train Expresses Friendship

By DREW PEARSON

ABOARD the French Merci Train—The average Frenchman has a general knowledge of the fact that when he pays his taxes, a small portion of it goes to support the cost of a French embassy and various consulates in the USA in order to improve relations over here. But this is a vague and far-away thing, besides which, being human, he doesn't like to pay taxes.

On the other hand, when six million French men and women voluntarily contribute a personal keepsake to the Gratitude Train for the American people, it means something far more important than ambassadors or consuls or state department propaganda.

It means that each of those six million Frenchmen considers himself a personal ambassador, a personal promoter of good will and peace.

And when you get that kind of people-to-people relationship, it becomes increasingly difficult for unbalanced or foolhardy leaders to start wars or create friction.

In the long run, furthermore, the only way we can prevent war is by people going over the heads of their governments to get acquainted with other people.

Note—Just as the U. S. government had nothing whatever to do with the start or organization of the Friendship Train, so the French government had nothing to do with starting the Gratitude Train, though later it gave great help in getting the boxcars to the United States.

Simple, Priceless Gifts.

SOME priceless gifts are aboard the Thank-you Train, such as the Taveau statue of George Washington and the flag that flew over Verdun in 1918. But almost more precious, in a sense, was the neatly wrapped paper parcel brought to the train by a communist lady in Paris—because she gave it against all the dictates of her political party, because she placed friendship with Americans ahead of communists.

Equally precious are thousands of other gifts which have no commercial value—simple offerings from the humbler people of France.

Aboard the train, for instance, is a gift from a workman and his wife whose home was destroyed during the war and who now live in an almshouse.

"For the Gratitude Train to America," they wrote, "we have decided to send our dearest possession, our boy's full dress uniform. It went with him when he left to fight and die in France. It will now go to the United States, in token of the brotherhood between our two countries."

And there is the child's painting of a yellow heart, with her words written beneath—"I know that Americans have hearts of gold."

Remembrance and Love.

AT FIRST the humble people of France did not realize that they could contribute to the Gratitude Train. The train was first organized by French railroad war veterans, but later they got help from radio commentator Georges Delamare, who broadcast the fact that the working people of France could also participate.

"We must feel, in offering our gifts," said Delamare, "that we are depriving ourselves. We must take from our personal treasure store, gifts such as only France can provide. There is no more sincere way of showing gratitude than by giving what one prizes most highly."

One of the things the American people will prize most highly is the "Treasure Book" signed by the French people who put gifts aboard the Merci Train. People flocked to the office of the newspaper Figaro for more than a week to sign this book and write a message to the American people. Some wrote in English, most in French.

Thousands of notes also were written to accompany the gifts. And it is the hope of the men and women who sent these messages, that their friends in America will read the notes and will want to reply.

Members of the Women's World Fellowship worked long hours to help translate these notes of greeting sent by the "little people" of France. They felt that, while they were poor in worldly goods, they were rich in friendship.

Unfortunately they were not able to translate all the messages; but perhaps French classes in American schools and colleges can continue where they left off, and thus start a chain of correspondence between the people of France and America in continuation of people-to-people diplomacy.

Notes From Washington.

A 24-HOUR, round-the-clock police guard in the House un-American activities committee rooms, demanded last year by Rep. John Rankin of Mississippi, is still being maintained, though Rankin is no longer a member of the committee. Rankin demanded the round-the-clock watch after the committee seized the famous "pumpkin papers" from Whittaker Chambers. What's left of these papers after the justice department picked them over is locked in a safe in the committee's offices.

The mail at Council, Ga., is picked up by a pet deer, owned by the postmistress, Mrs. David Johnson. . . . Senators, studying statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, discovered that the next new state won't be the 49th but the 50th in American history. Back in 1794, when the state of Tennessee was admitted to the Union, the state of North Carolina was proclaimed a new state which they named after Benjamin Franklin. The state of Franklin lasted only three years, then was carved up between Tennessee and North Carolina.

The Valentine

—By ANNE CAMPBELL

I found it in the attic,
A dusty Valentine,
Old-fashioned, made of lace and silk,
With sentiment so fine,
I wish I could remember
That boy (now who was he?)
Who bought this pretty trifle,
And sent it home to me.

Perhaps he was the dandy
Who stayed in our small town
A little while, and when he left,
The girls all felt left down.
If so, his feet have slowed now;
I, too, is marked by years;
And only in my attic,
His youthful heart appears!

I must have been enchanted
With this red silken heart
To lay it carefully away,
A treasured piece of art!
It must have made me happy
To know that someone's aim
Like Cupid's, was for my young love.

But what was that lad's name?

TODAY IN HISTORY

On February 14, 1876, Alexander Graham Bell and Elisha Gray each filed separate applications for patents on a telephone. Bell's application was filed a few hours earlier than the other one and thus was awarded the patent.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

SOME very pretty Valentines received this year . . . Dewey sent Gallup a heart with an arrow through it.

But Mr. Truman held up the one he had expected to award Congress for hurry-up legislation . . . On the budget, some Democrats in the brave new Congress are talking like Republicans in the bad old one.

U. S. and British Navies Irk Russians

MOSCOW — (AP) — The United States and British navies have been attracting considerable interest lately in the Soviet press.

United States Secretary of the Navy Sullivan's annual report on the state of naval armaments was commented on at length in Red Fleet, which may be considered the Soviet navy paper.

After noting this, Red Fleet added:

"Additional information on the naval armaments of the U. S. A. can be derived from the comprehensive published statement of the chief of the ship administration of the navy department, Vice Admiral Mills, on the program of shipbuilding reconstruction.

"The statement," Red Fleet noted, "devotes much attention to submarines and anti-submarine defense vessels."

The commentary added, however, that Mills' statement provided "no full idea of the scales and tempo of naval armament of the U. S. A."

Later the newspaper noted "attention is evoked by the fact that in recent months statements by the American naval leaders stress more and more strongly the role and significance of the submarine arm and also of anti-submarine defense. But it is known that since the Second World war, the United States faces no real submarine danger."

Red Fleet said the assertions of Sullivan and Mills for the necessity for a further expansion of naval defense and particularly for a development of the submarine fleet and anti-submarine defense are "unjustifiable."

"Then," asked Red Fleet, "what is involved? Why do the American naval leaders underscore the construction of aircraft carriers and submarine forces?"

"This is explained simply: The naval programs as well as the naval doctrine of the U. S. A. are at present time entirely subordinate to and correspond to the expansionist policy of the ruling circles.

"Not defense of their communications, which no one threatens, but the cutting off at any moment of the communications of other powers on the seas and oceans — this is what the program of naval armament construction of the U. S. A. at the present time is based upon."

Canine Given Ignoble Ride

COLUMBUS — (UP) — It undoubtedly was the most humiliating train ride ever taken by a dog.

When Pennsylvania railroad employees unloaded a carload of pigs just arrived from St. Louis, they found the dog among the swine. How he happened to be there was a mystery to the railroaders.

Humane officer M. A. McCall took the dog to the animal shelter. If nobody claims the dog, the Humane society will try to find him a home.

PILES Are Never "Mild"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves. Instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, rain in black and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

Court Acquits French Diplomat

PARIS — (AP) — Gaston Bergery, French ambassador to Turkey during the German occupation of France, was acquitted last night of charges of collaboration with the nazis.

The prosecution's main point was the friendship of Bergery with German ambassador to Turkey, Franz Von Papen, at Ankara.

Von Papen was cleared of charges of being a major nazi by a German court last month.

EMBLEM BREAKFAST HELD AT LELAND BY B. AND P. W.

Candlelight Ritual and Initiation Held
By Club for Ten New Members Sunday.

TEN NEW MEMBERS were welcomed to the Business and Professional Women's club Sunday morning at the annual emblem breakfast held in the dining room of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. The candlelight ritual and initiation was conducted by Mrs. Marvel Cowell, assisted by Miss Marie Kalbfleisch and Mrs. Gertrude Kaufman.

Those received were Mrs. Marjorie Comer, Mrs. Edna Ohler, Mrs. Betty Lash, Miss Beatrice Platt, Mrs. Ruth McCammon, Mrs. Bertha Scanlon, Mrs. Marie Menchan, Miss Eleanor Ford, Mrs. Sue Smith and Miss Doris Dean.

Following the explanation of the emblem, Miss Estella Arras sang "The Golden Key" by Bond, and "The Emblem Benediction Song," accompanied by Miss Ruth Isham. The latter number was sung by the entire membership.

Fifty were seated at tables decorated with attractive Valentine appointments at 9 o'clock. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Ethel Blaney, membership chairman, and Mrs. Russell Eckles, emblem chairman. Mrs. John Jones and Miss Ruth Moffatt arranged the decorations. At each place were red hearts on which was the gold B. and P. W. emblem.

Rev. David N. Roller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the guest speaker, using as his theme, "Life Has Loveliness To Sell."

Announcement was made of the 25th anniversary of the club which will be observed with a guest night party and dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel on March 9.

Guest speaker for the meeting, scheduled for 7 p. m., will be Mrs. Hazel R. Ferguson of Evanston, Ill., national chairman of education and vocation of the B. and P. W. Her subject will be "Woman's Influence." Selections will also be given by the B. and P. W. Glee club.

Announcement also was made of the benefit card party and style show being sponsored by the members and the Elks' auxiliary tomorrow evening at the Elks home at 8 p. m. Proceeds will be used for the new Friendly House nursery.

Miss Grace Bonnell, general chairman for the annual Glee club concert on March 20, announced that tickets would be mailed to each of the members this week.

Miss Bonnell asked the members to cooperate in selling tickets for the concert, which, she said, she understands is the last which Miss Myrtle Booth, director, will present. Miss Booth is vacationing with her sister, Mrs. Falsom Teeters in Phoenix, Ariz., and during her absence Miss Estella Arras is directing the club in rehearsals.

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Tuesday, February 15

THE auguries from leading planets encourage the hope of rich fulfillment of greatly desired hopes and wishes, with promotion, increased scope for honors, favors, distinction. The element of surprise could give excellent stimuli for fresh attack on unusual objectives, plans or propositions. Finance, credit, aid from influential sources all thrive, and while novelty, outstanding originality or techniques, seem to go over with conspicuous success, yet all is not in harmony and could suffer from rash, wild, malicious or explosive outbursts, bringing loss, disaster, regrets, shun stress and tension; relax.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, have an augury of outstanding success in putting over exceptionally clever and original plans, ideas or projects, attracting attention and support from high places, these promising honors, public recognition, perhaps festivities or celebrations. Nevertheless, nervous tension, haste, erratic moves and wild explosions could defeat the most cherished and promising aspirations — business, financial, personal. Keep firm grip on emotions, language and conduct, lest a turn of acrimony prove fatal.

New Type of Project Worthwhile For Clubwomen, Philanthropists

THE CORNER drugstore supplies the small inexpensive items a sickroom requires—medicines, toiletries, disinfectants—but what about the big and costly necessities. Frequently when a person is ill at home, he needs a hospital bed, a wheel chair or crutches, but these things are generally too expensive for the average family budget. Here is the way one community solved this problem reports the Woman's Home Companion.

For the past eight years a Maryland woman's club has been lending—without charge—all sorts of sickroom articles to anyone in the community who needs them. This sickroom loan closet operates like a circulating library and in all of the time it has been operating only once has an article not been returned.

The collection started with sheets, pillowcases, a pair of crutches and two wheel chairs contributed by members of the club. Even strangers who have only heard about the project now contribute sickroom items until there are well over a hundred articles in the collection.

The club keeps a simple file of "ins" and "outs" and after six or eight weeks they call to check on the use of any articles not returned. The club originally intended the loan closet as a neighborhood service in its own community. But as its work became known, request for aid and information come from a widening area.

CLEAN SPOTS

What you use to take out a spot on clothes depends on what made the spot. However there are a few general rules which apply to all types of stains. First household investment should be a good all-purpose cleaner because it contains a solvent for grease. Next step in spot removal is to determine the cause of the spot. Third step is to go into action as soon as possible, before the spot can "set." An important step in spot removal is to always use a clean bath towel or similar pad under the fabric to help absorb part of the stain. If it's an ice cream stain you want to remove from Johnny's party coat here is the procedure. First wipe the excess ice cream from the fabric, then apply cleaning fluid sparingly.

Men Die Before Women to Keep From Making Liars of Themselves

NEW YORK — (AP) — Science is around to finding out that women live longer than men. Now it wants to know why.

Well, the bunsen burner laboratory mice looking for the answer to that one. I can tell them:

The average woman outlives the average man because she wants to—and he wants her to. That's all there is to it.

It's a simple matter of pride, civilization and erosion.

Some scientists have held man's shorter life span is due to the fact he lives more dangerously. Dr. James B. Hamilton of Long Island university blames it, on the other hand, to the male sex hormone.

He says this raises the metabolic rate and causes men to burn up their food and oxygen at a faster rate than women.

But it seems to the poor man's philosopher that both these scientific theories overlook the fundamental factor—the human one, the desire of both sexes that the female last longer.

All modern civilization is built on that theme.

It starts with the idea that women are made of a finer stuff than men. And this begins in earliest childhood. What are little girls made of? Sugar and spice and everything nice. And what are little boys made of? Rats and snails and puppy dog tails. Ugh!

The small lad fights this idea at the kindergarten level. But by the time he is out of grammar school his resistance has been beaten down. He despondently accepts it as a fact that he is made of baser, cruder metal from that day to the grave he carries on his function in the modern world—thralldom to womankind.

The slow erosion that destroys him ultimately isn't caused alone by the wear and tear of his daily tread.

In Crash North of City

9 Die In Week-End Traffic In State

Nine persons were killed in traffic accidents in Ohio over the week-end, including a 19-year-old Port Clinton nurse's aide in mishap at the intersection of U. S. Route 224 and State Route 13 north of Ashland.

Miss Jane Gettinger of MacGruder hospital, Port Clinton, died of internal injuries on the way to Willard Municipal hospital shortly before midnight Sunday.

Miss Gettinger and her companion, Everett Crye, of Toledo, were returning to Port Clinton after spending Sunday in Mansfield when their car crashed into the rear of a truck at the intersection in Huron county.

Crye, who was admitted to Willard hospital with a possible brain concussion, was released today.

The unidentified driver of the truck which the car struck was not held by the state patrol.

Other Ohio fatalities included: Earl Rapp, 22, of Kenton, killed when the auto in which he was riding overturned near Troy.

Cheryl Calvert, year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Calvert, Columbus, killed when the car in which she was riding with her parents, collided with another auto near Columbus.

Wilbur Christlieb, 19, of Farmington, fatally injured when his motorcycle crashed into an automobile near Warren.

Mrs. Mary E. Kelly Lawrence, 30, of Warren, killed when the motorbike her husband gave her as a Christmas gift collided with an automobile a mile north of Warren.

Max Eugene Fuller, 27, of New Philadelphia, fatally injured when the car in which he was riding overturned on a curve near New Philadelphia.

Rexal E. Haught, 31, of Akron, killed when his car crashed into the rear of another car on a curve south of Akron.

Melville W. Holmes, 33, personnel manager at the Alside Aluminum company, Akron, killed when his auto skidded into a utility pole in Akron.

Completion of funeral arrangements for Robert Victor Moses, 32, of Hayesville, who died in General hospital early Sunday as the result of an auto accident on U. S. Route 30, east of Mansfield, was delayed today pending word from his wife, Laura, in Wilmington, Del.

Moses' death brings to three the total number of traffic fatalities this year in Richland county, as compared with two this time last year. His body is at the Denbow-Bear funeral home, in Ashland.

Foreman of the paint and body shop at the Colby and Erick garage here, Moses was a native of Hayesville, but had been living in Wilmington and had recently returned from there to take a job with the Mansfield garage.

He was a World War II veteran and had gone through several campaigns in Europe during the last war without a wound.

Moses died when his car overturned as he was driving east on Route 30. He was thrown from the car as the door opened.

Surviving, besides his wife, are a son, Robert Jr., a daughter, Mary Ann, both of Wilmington, Del.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curt Moses, of Hayesville; a brother, Homer, of Ashland; and a sister, Mrs. Glenn Jackenhauer, of Hayesville.

Dr. Wright spoke of the differences between the white and colored races and admitted their problems cannot be one-sided—both sides have to give and take if the problems are to be solved.

City Battles Mud With Tons of Slag

For the past eight days, the Mansfield street department has put down 50 tons of slag, limestone and gravel daily as it battled to keep Mansfield's streets in good condition.

Street Supt. E. W. Davis reported today that normally at this time of the year, no material of that type is needed, but because of the warm winter, the added expense has been necessary.

"We've got to fight mud which usually doesn't become a problem until February or March," he added.

He said the city received six carloads of gravel and six of limestone last week.

Still far behind in repairing water department dig-ups, Davis said a new system would be inaugurated in a few weeks.

"We're going to get out and fix all the unpaved dig-ups as soon as the weather permits."

"Then, instead of allowing the water department to fill the dig-ups with wet material, which takes many days to dry up and be packed down by passing cars, we're going to have them filled with dry materials and tamped down."

"In that way, we'll be able to pave the dig-ups almost as soon as the water department finishes its repair work," Davis explained.

Up and Down the Street...

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

Fifty years as a baker as well as 65 birthday years will be celebrated today by Edward Davis, employee of the Blake bakery, South Main street. However, the celebrating got a little ahead of Davis' birthday. Relatives and friends gathered at his home, 217 South Main street Saturday night for a birthday observance.

The group were Davis' six children and his grandchildren. Best wishes are also extended to Ralph O. Wise, who will spend the day working as usual with the Warner-Swasey company of Cleveland.

WELL-BEHAVED—

No one knows whether it was the influence of Lincoln's birthday, Valentine's day, or the rainy weather, but Mansfield had an exceptionally quiet week-end. The police department received a number of complaints but they were all minor affairs—family trouble, and drunks for the most part. The only arrests were a few speeders. There was not a single fire run from 1:25 p. m. Saturday until today. There were several minor traffic mishaps, but no one was hurt.

Members of the Business and Professional Women's club, aided by husbands of the members, busy putting up chairs and tables in the Elks home in preparation for their benefit card party Tuesday night.

OSR Escaper Surrenders

Chester Walker, 23, who walked away from the Mansfield reformatory farm last Friday, surrendered yesterday to the sheriff of Logan county at Bellefontaine. OSR officials were informed.

He will be returned to the reformatory where extra time will be added to his sentence for escaping.

Walker was serving one to seven years for grand larceny. He was received from Logan county last Sept. 21.

She was born Oct. 23, 1948. Surviving, besides the parents, are one sister, Marsha Lynn at home; and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dye of Mansfield and Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Gephart of Wooster.

Services will be held at the Wolford funeral home at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. Wray Smith officiating. Burial will be in Memorial park. Friends may call at the funeral home afternoon Tuesday.

Missionary To Speak Here

Cyril H. Brooks, missionary to the Philippines for many years, will speak at the Lincoln Heights Gospel Chapel, Kentucky avenue and Ashland road, Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Brooks and his family were taken captive by the Japanese during World War II and confined in a concentration camp at Los Banos, Luzon island. They will tell the story of their war experiences and how they were released by American paratroopers and tanks, on Feb. 23, 1945. Now the Brooks family members are on their way back to the Philippines.

Wasteful Methods Flayed

Group Cites Climbing Costs

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The Hoover commission accused the government of bad "housekeeping" today and said it has accumulated excessive stocks of equipment and goods valued at more than two and a half billion dollars.

The group told Congress, in the third installment of its report on government reorganization, that widespread mismanagement and waste exists in the purchase and control of supplies, and in the handling of records and public buildings.

To correct this situation, the commission, headed by former President Hoover, recommended that an office of general services be set up to manage these activities. The office would be headed by a director named by the President.

The commission declared that the government has in storage in the country military and civilian inventories worth 27 billion dollars.

SEES OUT POSSIBLE

It said the "task force" that made a study of this problem estimated that it would be possible to reduce these inventories by more than two and a half billion dollars.

The group added that the task force said "great savings" would result.

The commission reported that government records in existence would fill six buildings the size of the colossal Pentagon, and that it owns and manages 60 million square feet of building space. That is the equivalent of about 20 buildings the size of the Pentagon.

The group declared that "practically every agency has excessive stocks of supplies." Stocks on hand, it added, are adequate to meet the needs of agencies at present consumption rates for periods ranging from one to 50 years.

HANDLING COST HIGH

It estimated that half of the several million purchase orders issued by the government each year are for $10 or less and said: "Since the cost of processing a purchase transaction is greatly in excess of $10, the overhead cost is more than the cost of the goods."

The commission said the government is spending more than six billion dollars a year for new supplies, material and equipment aside from what is being purchased under the foreign aid programs.

Has a million motor vehicles worth "at least" two billion dollars.

The group charged that "funds remaining near the end of a fiscal year are frequently expended for supplies and equipment in order to avoid returning the money to the treasury."

Under the commission plan, supply, record administration and public buildings operation each would be placed under a director in the proposed office of general services. Each director would head a bureau.

Ernest S. Thrush Dies In Florida

Funeral services were held Friday in St. Petersburg, Fla., for Ernest S. Thrush, 85, former Mansfield resident, who died last Tuesday in a St. Petersburg rest home.

Mr. Thrush left Mansfield 14 years ago to make his permanent residence in St. Petersburg. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Katherine Thrush; a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Hunt, Toledo; a brother, Walter Thrush and a sister, Miss Evie Thrush, both of Plymouth.

Thomas Boyle Dies At Home In City

Thomas Boyle, 58, died this morning at his home, 289 North Main street, following a brief illness.

Born in Youngstown in 1890, Mr. Boyle came to Mansfield several years ago. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Fred Burford of Youngstown.

The body was removed from the Wapner funeral home to Youngstown for services and burial.

Miss Spray will conduct the meetings. Covered-dish luncheons will be held at the meetings at the homes of Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Simmons. The meeting at the home of Mrs. Wolford will include a sack lunch.

County May Use New Gym

The long-time problem of seating at Richland county high school gyms may be another which will be solved by the forthcoming construction of Senior high's new fieldhouse.

County May Use New Gym

The possibility of county schools renting the fieldhouse for "big games" came up in a conversation with Bellville coach Harry Regula.

Regula feels that all schools would welcome the possibility and might go so far as to stage regular double-headers if the field house is available. Many of the affairs would probably have to be played on Saturday night but that could be worked out to advantage, possibly by cutting out mid-week games.

The chat with Regula took place on the steps leading up from the Bellville dressing room Friday night. At the time some 500 fans were squeezing themselves into the Bellville gym to see the host Blue Jays play an important game with Ontario. A few hundred more were outside, returning to their cars after failing to get in, and countless numbers never showed up because of the seating situation.

Such a situation is a common thing at all Richland county league games through no fault of the schools. They welcome the fan interest but their gyms were built a number of years ago and there is simply no money to build new ones, in most cases.

On the other hand, once Senior high gets its field house built, it will need all the possible revenue to help maintain it. A set-up with a regular weekly round of county league play on the court would be beneficial to both parties.

Most fans, we are sure, would rather drive nine or ten miles and be assured of a comfortable seat than have to stand in line for an hour or more just for the chance of getting a standing space on the corner of the playing floor.

Just so everyone will be sure and forget about it before the time comes, we will make our basketball predictions early. For the four teams to play the Class B state tournament we'll take Junction City in the southwest, Lockland Wayne in the southwest, Yorkville in the northeast and Lima St. Rose from the northwest.

For some "spoilers" watch Frazeysburg and Somerset Holy Trinity at Athens, Walnut Creek at Kent, and New Knoxville and the Richland county league winner at Toledo. We can't see anyone beating out Lockland Wayne in the Dayton regional.

Jack McLain, the Brooklyn scout who will conduct the baseball clinic here Wednesday, was such a good basketball coach he had to resign.

The former Ohio State cager coached at Glenford for several years and each time pushed his team through county and district tournament play only to have to leave them or pass up baseball spring training. Several years he reported late for baseball and then in the fall was late getting back in coaching harness.

Finally he chose between the two and basketball lost a man who might have become one of its great coaches.

Aids Villanova With Big 85

(By International News Service)

A basketball player can score 85 points in one game.

For further information, see Paul Arizin, who did just that in "helping" Villanova to a 117-25 victory over the Philadelphia naval air command center Saturday night.

Whether Arizin's performance will be recognized as an official college record remains to be seen. Villanova was considerably under-matched in facing the naval air command center—who aren't officially a college team.

Wilberforce Squad Leads Ohio College Court Race

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS—Probably the tightest race in history is on for Ohio's college cage championship.

Although any one of a half-dozen clubs can grab the state-wide race—now paced by Wilberforce—the Mid-American conference scrap has settled down to a two-team fight between Butler and Cincinnati, while Ohio Wesleyan, Muskingum and Oberlin all have a chance at the Ohio conference laurels.

Wilberforce breezed through four games last week to take over the top spot with 18 wins and four defeats in the all-games sector; Butler rolled to its sixth straight Mid-American victory over Western Michigan, while Ohio Wesleyan won a pair to slip around Wittenberg and Muskingum into the Ohio loop lead.

DROP TO SEVENTH

Venber finally fell, after a 10-3 straight to pace the circuit, and when the Lutherans dropped they hit with a dull thud. In three outings last week the Springfielders dropped all three, skidding from first to seventh place.

Wesleyan and Muskingum are practically tied at the top of the sprawling Ohio league, and it looks like a fight right down to the wire.

Wesleyan has a slight edge, having won eight of 10 in the loop, the Muskies being a whisker behind with 11-3.

33 THIS WEEK

The Ohio teams have 53 games on tap this week, 22 with out-of-state clubs, 12 in the Ohio conference and three in the Mid-American. Last week the Bucks grabbed 11 of 21 games with out-of-staters, giving the local lads 116 victories and 106 defeats for the campaign against the foreigners.

Wesleyan battled its way to the top of the Ohio circuit with a point average of 65.6 per game, and Muskingum is rolling at a 65.9 clip. But last week Wittenberg averaged 72 for three, and dropping all three. And Capital, a 71.8 mark for 11 league games, has won only five.

This week's schedule:

MONDAY—Ohio State at St. Louis West, Eastern Michigan at Youngstown, Butler at Niagara, Baldwin Wallace at Akron, Bowling Green at Marquette Wright Field at Rio Grande.

TUESDAY—Capital at Wilmington, Delaware at Otterbein, Ohio University at Marietta, Wittenberg at Ohio Northern, Xavier at Dayton, Huntington, Ind., at Cedarville.

WEDNESDAY—Mt. Union at Kent State, Baldwin Wallace at Youngstown, Butler at Delaware, Capital at Anderson, Ind., Wittenberg at Ohio Wesleyan at Wittenberg, Bethany at Marietta, Cincinnati at Duquesne.

FRIDAY—Bowling Green at Ohio U., Western Michigan at Youngstown, Butler at Niagara, Baldwin Wallace at Akron, Bowling Green at Marquette Wright Field at Rio Grande.

SATURDAY—Ohio State at Northwestern, Western Michigan at Youngstown, Butler at Niagara, Baldwin Wallace at Akron, Bowling Green at Marquette Wright Field at Rio Grande.

SUNDAY—College basketball: John Carroll 77, Gannon 43; 1 over 77 St. Joseph 141, 64 St. Francis (Pa.) 41 St. Bonaventure 40.

Valley Teams Tops In Wins

NEW YORK — (UP) — The basketball power of the mid-west, and particularly the Missouri valley conference, was the most striking fact today in a survey of teams angling for a post-season tournament invitation.

Among outfits that have lost only a handful of games, more come from the central section of the United States than from any other part.

The Missouri valley takes the cake. Of the six teams in the circuit three—St. Louis (18-1), Oklahoma A. and M. (15-3), and Bradley (22-4) — are rated among the most certain to get a tourney bid. Fifty percent representation would be an unparalleled record.
